

Idioms about Human Body

Blood Is Thicker Than Water

Family relationships take precedence over others.

- No matter how much I've fought with my brother, but blood is thicker than water.

Brain Drain

Departure of talented, well-educated individuals from a place.

- Venezuela is experiencing a brain drain right now, with many professionals leaving for other countries because of bad conditions at home.

No-Brainer

Something that not requires thought.

- If the salary offered to me is more than my current salary, the decision is a no-brainer.

On the Blink

Not working, intermittently not working.

- We have work piling up, the computer's on the blink.

Bend over Backwards

You make every effort to achieve something, especially you should to be fair or helpful.

- I've bent over backwards to please you. But it never seems to be good enough.